DETAILED ACTION

The amendment filed 4/21/2008 is acknowledged.

Claims 59, 68-75, 77 and 78 are pending and examined on the merits.

New Grounds of Rejection:

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 59, 68-75, 77 and 78 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims are indefinite because in the comparison rule “(iii)” the calculated ratio is compared to the ratio of the reference fluid sample of the malignant thyroid. There is no antecedent basis for a ratio for a reference fluid sample of the malignant thyroid, because for all of the claims the comparison step refers only to a reference fluid sample from a normal thyroid, or a reference fluid sample from a benign thyroid.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 59, 68-75, 77 and 78 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for methods comprising the active steps recited in the claims of measuring amounts of different types of thyroglobulin based on their differential lectin reactivity, does not reasonably provide enablement for the methods that further comprise steps where comparison rules are used in determining whether a thyroid is malignant or benign as currently recited in the claims. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

Applicants' arguments have been considered but fail to persuade. The amendment to the claims addresses one of the problems discussed in the rejection of record, that of comparison rules that appeared to be in conflict with each other. However, the previous Office action presents a second problem, that of rules that are in conflict with the data presented in the disclosure of the specification, and the fact that depending on the subtype of thyroid tumor, the rules might be different. For example, the comparison rule for determining if a sample is from a malignant thyroid does not appear to reflect the data found in Figure 3. In Figure 3, the ratio from a malignant tumor is lower than benign, but higher than normal, or the same as that of normal; whereas the comparison rule for determining if a sample is from a malignant thyroid requires that the calculated ratio be both higher than a normal reference ratio and a benign reference ratio. The data in Figure 3 is specific to the comparison of follicular carcinoma versus follicular adenoma; whereas the data in Figures 1 and 2 are specific to papillary carcinoma versus thyroid adenoma or Grave's disease. Thus, it appears that for different types of thyroid malignancy, there are different patterns of lectin reactivity, and this difference is not reflected in the claims. Therefore, the rejection is maintained.

Conclusion

No claim is allowed.
